VAL D'ISÈRE WELCOMES TWO NEW SCOTT DUNN CHALETS, PERFECT FOR CATCHING THE LATE EASTER SNOW

Scott Dunn is kicking off the 2013/14 by extending their chalet portfolio with two spectacular new chalets in the infamous French resort of Val d'Isère. Open from December, the six-bedroom Chalet Genepy epitomises alpine chic and features a large south facing balcony, open plan living and dining space plus a superb wellness area with indoor pool built into the rock face and a Hammam. For smaller groups, new sister property Le Lièvre Blanc sleeps up to 6 people and boasts exceptional views out towards Solaise. Other property highlights include an open plan living and dining space with a bar and a double height ceiling and mezzanine with separate TV area. With Easter 2014 falling so late in the ski season, when many properties will have already closed, both chalets offer the perfect base for those still wishing to catch the snow in mid/late April with Val d'Isère set at 1850m.

HOW: Scott Dunn offers 7 nights at Chalet Genepy (sleeping up to 12) from £1,675 per person including a private chef and chalet host or 7 nights at Le Lièvre Blanc (sleeping up to 6) from £1,955 per person including return British Airways flights, luxury coach transfers, private chef and chalet host.
