ALILA ANJI. ZHEJIANG OPENING Q4 2015

Alila Anji, will be the group's first property to open in China. Situated on a hillside overlooking a lake, the resort is located in the heart of the Zhejiang province, surrounded by the pristine beauty of bamboo groves and white-tea plantations. As the location of the Oscar winning movie 'Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon', the area is renowned for its outstanding natural beauty thanks to over 60,000 hectares of bamboo groves, with over 40 different species found within the region. The area was designed as a pilot county for ecological and green building construction; Alila Anji has been built with the area's outstanding natural beauty in mind, and in accordance with Alila's strict environmental and design ethos.

With pristine grounds and excellent frontage, the resort is designed to resemble a traditional Chinese village with white exteriors and sweeping dark-tiled roofs. The resort features 74 stately villas and suites with elevated views across the lake, perfect for guests looking for quiet indulgence and fresh air. The first Spa Alila in China will be a destination within itself, with seven treatment rooms and an extensive menu of health, beauty and restorative treatments, including traditional Chinese Medicine.

Room rates start from US$320++ per night based on two people sharing. Alila Anji is the first of ten properties that Alila will open in China by 2017. For more information visit www.alilahotels.com/anji Alila Hotel & Resorts currently have a further 19 new developments in the pipeline, all of which are due to open by 2018. Alila continues to expand with exciting new hotel and resort developments in key destinations, including Malaysia, China, India, Indonesia, Indochina and Oman.
