

PRESS RELEASE

SCOTT DUNN LAUNCHES NEW 'CHILL & THRILL' PORTFOLIO FOR TRAVELLING WITH TEENS

Scott Dunn releases its new 'Chill & Thrill' itineraries showcased in their Teens brochure, offering expertly curated experiences for travelling with teens. The collection ranges from mastering a samurai sword in Japan and husky-sledding in Finland to exploring shipwrecks in Namibia

After extensive in-house research, Scott Dunn launches a new Teens 'Chill & Thrill' portfolio of exciting itineraries for families travelling with teenagers. Filled with unique itineraries, the new brochure has been expertly designed to ensure that each holiday features 'Chill & Thrill' activities that factor in downtime for teens to recover from a busy school term and more adventurous activities to ensure the whole family enjoys a truly memorable holiday.

The new portfolio is the direct result of research and discussions with Scott Dunn's existing guests where it became clear that modern day teenagers are frequently exhausted at the start of the holidays after long school terms and the mounting pressure of exams. This research has been backed up by a recent report published by the World Health Organisation that found 73% of England's 15 year old girls and 52% of the same age boys are feeling increasingly pressured by schoolwork. So Scott Dunn wanted to ensure that families travelling with teens would benefit best from an itinerary that encompasses contrasting activities, which place as much importance on downtime as mind-blowing Facebook-worthy entertainment. Each tailor-made itinerary in Scott Dunn's new brochure has been created and formatted with this combination in mind, highlighting a unique experience, which will help chill teenagers out before they go onto try more adventurous and challenging activities, which will keep them entertained and broaden their horizons.

Scott Dunn's Head of Family Product, Katherine Rose comments, 'It became very apparent during our discussions with previous guests that teens from the Millennial generation lead increasingly busy lives and are in need of chill time to de-stress just as much as adults. It therefore made complete sense to focus on producing some really well thought out itineraries covering the globe, that lend themselves perfectly to families travelling with teenagers, with a combination of action and relaxation’.

From this May half term, Scott Dunn will be continuing its ‘Chill & Thrill’ travel with teens focus with the launch of ‘Crew’ - an exciting programme for over 11’s who are looking to take part in activities, spend some time relaxing, have fun and make new friends on holiday. It will be unveiled initially at Costa Navarino in Greece, Anassa in Cyprus and Sun Gardens in Croatia. Offering an 18-hour programme split over six days and run by active ‘Crew Leaders’, Crew does not have a club house or set weekly timetable but instead offers a fantastic mix of water and land-based activities, including anything from wakeboarding and paddle boarding to rock climbing and go-karting. Meeting Crew Leaders at pre-arranged points at changeable times, older children will gain a sense of independence whilst spending time with their peers. Coinciding with the launch of the new Scott Dunn Crew programme that’s exclusive to Scott Dunn guests at Costa Navarino, British Airways is introducing a new direct flight from London Heathrow to Kalamata International Airport making it even easier for British families to fly to Greece this summer.
